

Help us cross the finish line: Donate to SECC today!

We're in the homestretch of the State Employee Charitable Campaign, with this year's campaign closing at 11:59 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31. Thanks to your generosity, we've raised over $230,000 so far.

The SECC is our opportunity to exemplify UTSW's values – excellence, innovation, teamwork, and compassion – to benefit others. Let's work together to reach our $300,000 goal.

Making a donation is easy:

- Browse the list of charities to find causes you're passionate about.
- Make either a one-time donation via the new Converge Pay digital tool or a monthly payroll deduction via PeopleSoft.

Plus, we still have plenty of exciting prizes left, including FC Dallas gear, LED speakers, charcuterie board sets, and more. Winners will be notified by email.

For more details, visit the SECC page (on-campus network or VPN required), or send us an email.

The Compliance puzzle: Putting the pieces together

November is Compliance Month, and the Office of Institutional Compliance & Audit Services wants to make it fun and engaging with this year's theme: "You're a Piece of the Puzzle: Compliance at UT Southwestern."

Compliance Month at UT Southwestern highlights the importance of ethics and integrity, where each of us is a vital piece of the compliance puzzle. There are several activities planned throughout the month, including a friendly Compliance Puzzle Challenge contest.

Natalie Ramello, J.D., Vice President for Institutional Compliance and Chief Compliance Officer, will also lead an important discussion with a panel of institutional leaders who will share insights into the major compliance risks we face and strategies to address them. The conversation will take place from noon-1:30 p.m. Nov. 14 at Eugene McDermott Plaza and Lecture Halls (D), D.502, on South Campus.

In addition to the panel, there will be meet-and-greets throughout the month and the Compliance Survey, which will help collect valuable feedback from the UT Southwestern community.

Race for the Cure: Komen funding innovative breast cancer research in North Texas

Earlier this month, Dallas hosted the annual Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, an event that raises tens of thousands of dollars to help eradicate breast cancer, including support for groundbreaking research at UT Southwestern.

"The funding from Susan G. Komen is essential, critical to the work we're doing across multiple labs," said Issac Chan, Ph.D., M.D., Assistant Professor of Internal Medicine. "And so we're very grateful for that because without funding, research doesn't continue, and research is hope."

Learn more about Dr. Chan's research and hear from Heather McArthur, M.D., Clinical Director of the Breast Cancer Program at the Harold C. Simmons Comprehensive Cancer Center, as she discusses how detection and treatment of breast cancer are improving.
